DR. ABBOTT ANSWERS REV. ILIFFE.

We are in receipt of a clipping from The Outlook of July 20, which contains a letter from Dr. Lyman Abbott to Rev. W. W. Iliffe concerning the reports that Col. Roosevelt is addicted to the excessive use of alcoholic liquors.

We reprint the following news article from the New York "Sun" of July 9, not because we think it will have any effect upon the malignant slanderers who are circulating the stories referred to, but because we hope it will reassure many unknown friends of the Col. Roosevelt who are daily writing to The Outlook in an anxious desire to have the truth made public.—The Editors.

BOSTON, July 8. In a letter addressed to the Rev. William Iliffe, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, Dr. Lyman Abbott, editor-in-chief of The Outlook, comes out in strong terms in defense of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, and brands as false the stories that have been circulated since the Chicago convention that Colonel Roosevelt is addicted to the excessive use of intoxicating liquors.

The Rev. Mr. Iliffe heard the story, which he understands is credited directly to prominent delegates from this State, and was loath to believe them. The reply of Dr. Abbott, under date of July 3, reads as follows:

Dear Sir: Your letter of July 1 has come to my personal attention. I am familiar with the stories, which can only be characterized as slanderous, which are going about the country reporting that Mr. Roosevelt is addicted to the excessive use of alcoholic liquors. They are without the slightest foundation in fact. Mr. Roosevelt is quite as temperate as I am. He never touches whiskey, has never tasted a "cocktail" in his life, and his customary drink when he lunched with me, twice a week, is either milk or iced tea.

During the Chicago Convention he did not touch a drop of any kind of alcoholic beverages. One of the members of my staff, in whom I have implicit confidence, was with him almost every hour of the day and evening in a confidential and personal capacity during the Chicago Convention and can testify that what I have just said is a fact.

When I remember that Washington was accused of embezzlement and graft; that Lincoln was accused of constantly telling indecent and vulgar stories; that Gladstone was accused of being an insane idiot; and that President Cleveland was accused of brutally mistreating his wife, I endeavor to endure with patience the slanders circulated against Mr. Roosevelt, at least until it is proved to be true.

Active and wonderfully virile physical, any physician will tell you that it is impossible for a man to do the mental and physical work which he is performing daily and has performed for twenty-five years if his brain were clouded or his body weakened by the habitual use of alcohol.

No man's character can be judged so well by anybody as by his intimates. I have been intimately associated with him now for several years, and I know him to be one of the most whole, some, sane, temperate, and sweet-minded men that I have ever come in contact with. You are at liberty to make any statement, private or public, that you think proper. I am, yours very truly,
LYMAN ABBOTT.

People Are Wholly Incompetent.

Dr. S. D. Fess, member of the constitutional convention addressed a men's club in the Clifton Avenue M. E. church, Springfield, Tuesday evening and explained several of the amendments that will be offered for the approval of the voters next September.

Dr. Fess supported the license proposal in the convention but has switched to the other side and now declares that we are better off with the present law than if the amendment is adopted.

On the initiative and referendum, the speaker stated that the people of Ohio were not capable of drafting their own laws and submitting them to a vote without revision, but held that this should not be a reflection on the intelligence of the people.

The Dr. made no endorsement of woman suffrage or judicial reform or even mentioned them, but after the meeting, when asked his position, personally favored each.

Farm Values Not Lowered.

The average price paid for farming land during the year which ended June 30, was $78.45, practically the same as that of the preceding year, according to the annual report of County Recorder B. F. Thomas, which has been sent to the Secretary of State. The average price the preceding year was $77.38. A smaller acreage of farming land changed hands during the year covered in the present report than in the twelve months preceding it. There were 148 deeds recorded in which the consideration was other than $1, covering an acreage of 10,001, the consideration for which was $779,592. In the year preceding there were 256 deeds recorded in which the consideration was more than $1. They represented 18,414 acres of farm land, for which the consideration was $1,040,276.

Three hundred and seventy-three deeds for farming lands and 283 deeds for town lots in which the consideration was given as $1 were recorded during the year just ended. The acreage of farm land covered was 9799. Of city, town and village lots, for other than $1 consideration, 128 deeds, covering 270 lots were recorded and the consideration totaled $181,173. The grand total of deeds recorded was 780, and the total consideration $985,866.

There were 270 mortgages on agricultural lands recorded covering an acreage of 18,500, with a total consideration of $718,470. Five hundred and eighty-two city lots were mortgaged for a consideration of $12,228. During the same year mortgages on 16,000 acres and on 349 city lots were cancelled. The total consideration on them was $708,189.

Home Girl Caught Here.

Mrs. Caroline Carroll and her son, Harrison, are held by the Xenia police on a charge of kidnapping Mary Carroll, sixteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Carroll from the O. S. & S. O. Home, Tuesday night.

The mother of the girl seems to be weak minded and fears that the officers of the Home will injure her daughter, who the authorities would not dismiss owing to her age. Mrs. Carroll claims that the girl came to her home in Deweyville, having left the Home of her own accord.

Officers of the various towns were notified by the Home officials and Mrs. Carroll, her son and the daughter, were caught here by Marshal Kennon. The party had considerable baggage and said they were on their way to their old home in Harrison county. They were making the journey by foot.

The daughter has been returned to the Home, and owing to the mental condition of the mother, Supt. Elton may not prosecute the case.

SENTENCED AND WEDDED.

Floyd Polly, who was found guilty last week of the theft of clover seed from Andrew Bros, was married to Julia Jones last Friday afternoon in the cell room of the county jail, Rev. A. M. Howe performing the ceremony.

The bride had arranged for a license and the same was granted upon the appearance of Polly in the custody of Sheriff McCallister. Rev. Howe preceded the ceremony with a brief talk on the sacredness of the marriage vow.

Polly had been sentenced to two years in the pen but when Judge Kyle learned of the wedding he presented the prisoner with a reduction of six months. Wm. Zimmerman, who was also convicted in connection with the same offense was given a year and one-half.

Congressman J. M. Cox, Democratic candidate for governor, will speak Wednesday, July 31, at the Jamestown Chautauque.

Cedar county paid more Aiken tax into the state treasury than any other county in the state during the past year. However, this applies only to counties that have voted dry. Voters of the Rose law also had to pay the Aiken tax and $22.24 was contributed in this county.

Mr. J. G. McCorkill, wife and daughter, Anna Mary, returned home last Saturday a or a two week visit in Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

Judge Kyle on Monday refused to grant a divorce to Mrs. John Stutz, who alleged indolence and failure to provide against her husband. The couple have been married twenty-seven years and formerly lived here but have lived in the western part of the county of recent years.

Mrs. Margaret Bennett, of Dayton, is a guest of Mr. B. E. McFarland and family.

The residence property occupied by the late Hester Townsley, on Miller street, was appraised Tuesday and will be sold in a few weeks at public sale. The valuation was placed at $1200 and the appraisers were J. H. Wolford, P. F. Hastings and L. G. Bull.

Mrs. Alexander, of Columbus, Mrs. Dye, of Dayton, Florida, and Mrs. Frank Wickersham, of Denver, Colo., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Baker. The two former are sisters of Mr. Baker and the latter a niece.

"This is all so sudden, Mr. Sampson," she said, with maidenly reserve, "and so unexpected, that although I confess I am not entirely indifferent to you, I hardly know what to say in reply to—"

"If you are in favor of the proposition," suggested Mr. Sampson, who, like Dick Swiveller, is a perpetual grand master, "you will please signify your assent by saying 'Aye.'"

"Aye," came softly.
"Contrary?"
"Not," thundered the old man, opening the door.

"The noes have it by a large majority," said Mr. Sampson, reaching hastily for his hat.

"O'f m' layn' bet's he won't," said Mr. Mullin. "He wor lightn' his pipe in the powder factory an' he dropped the match."

Automobile Left The Road.

The automobile of Andrew Bros' left the road last Sabbath morning just after it had crossed the branch on the Wilmington road near Mrs. McMillan's residence. Mr. T. B. Andrew was driving and beside his brother, J. H., were Mrs. T. B. Andrew, Miss Vera and Miss Lula Barber. The road was slippery and the front wheels slid into the ditch. The accident was done so quickly the occupants did not realize what was the matter until the sudden stop. There was no damage done, however, it was necessary to send to town for a derrick to pull the machine out of the ditch. That no one was hurt was due to the fact the machine was being driven at a moderate speed.

ON THE DEATH OF SAMUEL CRESWELL.

BY FRED F. MARSHALL.

No work in the harvest field to-day. The mower lies silent in the hay. And the grainfields whisper a lowly sigh As the summer breeze sweeps and dies. No plow or hoe in the bustling corn. The sparkling dew of early morn. Drips, drips like tear drops everywhere, And the wild rose droops as if in prayer That he might have a peaceful rest.

While the Bob White is cooing o'er her nest. Calls and calls at break of day To tell the world that he is gone away.

No voice of the reaper in the land. Each brother farmer has his hand And bows his head with a moving heart. That death has taken him apart. Whose presence cheered the flower. Smiling and smiling in the shower. O! who will not miss his kindly face, Or where is there one who has his place? The old, old home has lost its charm. 'Tis lonely now about the farm. For God did come to see his way. And took the grand old man away.

Tamed Sea Gulls.

That sea gulls may be domesticated has been demonstrated at Long Beach by Miss Mignon Le Brun of Los Angeles, Cal. So familiar have the gulls become about her as she takes her morning walk along the beach, and after she has been among them for a short time, some of the birds will even perch on her shoulder and take food from her fingers. She has been many weeks in overcoming the fears of the birds. Her appearance with her customary handful of table scraps is hailed with a cry of delight by the gulls. Instantly they are in the air, despoiling their usual feeding places, and hovering over the head and in front of Miss Le Brun. Then they will drop to the sands and feed at the feet of the young woman as complacently as might a flock of pet chickens.

FRIDAY, JULY 26, 1912

The bull moose in the past has been an object of attack, but what about election day next November.

Governor Harmon is still settling accounts with state office holders who leaned toward Willough.

Col. Bryan no doubt has an eye on Washington as an advisor of Woodrow Wilson, but then Woodrow, if elected, might prove another Cleveland or Harmon as Harvey Garber might testify.

A delegate to the constitutional convention who votes for a proposal recommends same to his people for approval. Sort of amusing to see some of the members advocating the adoption of only certain measures and treading lightly over others.

The Appeal to Reason, the Socialist paper published at Girard, Kansas, has issued a frantic call for assistance on the part of the followers of that party. Unless they respond the publication will be suspended. The socialist tendency of the two older political parties is given as the cause for the decline in the interest of the Socialist paper.

President Bigelow of the constitutional convention voted to endorse liquor license and has taken the stump to advocate the adoption of this and the other proposals. But what about our own delegate who supported liquor license, Dr. Fess, vice president of the convention? Which of the two is proving consistent?

Dr. Wylie, the pure food expert is traveling over the country lambasting President Taft. His most recent attack was at Antioch Chautauqua and the incident is said to have sent a cold chill over Taft headquarters, in that Dr. Fess recently endorsed the President and is now only lukewarm towards the President's success, this fall. A state politician is credited with the statement that a score board is being kept in Washington and such things are being checked by the administration. This will not prove good news to political aspirants who have been counting on the Dr.'s recommendation in case he is elected. Congressman Powers of Kentucky just recently experienced what it cost along this line.

Word has been received here of the death of Mr. Ezra Lewis of San Jose, Cal., on Monday, July 16. The deceased was a brother of Mr. Stores Lewis of Clifton and a sister, Miss Lewis, is a missionary in China and a brother-in-law of Mrs. Andrew Jackson, having married Miss Bell Dunlap, who died several years ago. Three sons survive the father.

The Joke of the Parents.
Some parents seem unable to resist the temptation to make a joke with the children. The Somerset House registers testify to the existence of a Mineral Waters, a Frosty Winter and an Alfred Days Week. There is something to be said in favor of naming children in the order of their arrival—Primus, Secundus, etc.—but it is unfortunate for a well known Canadian named Cumber that it should have fallen to his lot to be Quintus, for his name is always appearing in the papers as Mr. Q. Cumber.—London Chronicle.

The Secret of Influence.
Force, fervor, intensity—these are the qualities which have given their power to great leaders in all the movements by which the world has been swayed. Sometimes they have been present in men who left so little written memorial or whose efforts were foiled by adverse circumstances that we can note only the fact that they must have been remarkable because their contemporaries admired and followed them. They possessed the secret of influence, though we cannot tell how they manifested it. They are among the riddles of history.—Chambers' Journal.

He Was Gams.
"If you found that speech of mine so uninteresting," said the man of many words, "why did you stay till the finish?"
"Well," replied the cruelly frank friend, "I have just a trace of sporting instinct. After I had squandered the first fifteen minutes I made up my mind I wouldn't quit loser until I had seen the thing played out."—Washington Star.

Salesman.—You'll find these good wearing socks, sir. Customer.—Ruthless loud, ain't they? Salesman.—Yes, sir. But that keeps the feet from going to sleep.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By E. O. SELLERS, Director of Evening Department, The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

LESSON FOR JULY 28

THE WHEAT AND THE TARES.

LESSON TEXT.—Matthew 13:24-30, 36-43. GOLDEN TEXT.—"Gather up first the tares, and bind them in bundles to burn them; but gather the wheat into my barn." Matt. 13:30.

The thirteenth chapter of Matthew's gospel, the great kingdom chapter of the Bible, seven parables in this chapter give us each of seven aspects or applications of the principles of the kingdom. In this lesson we are taught the mixed character of the kingdom and also of the ultimate separation of the two classes of the kingdom. "A man," v. 24, goes out to sow good seed in his field. This man we are told in v. 37, is the Son of Man, and elsewhere that the field is the world, the hearts of men. Then followed the propagating stage, that period over which man has no control. During this period while men ate and slept awaiting the time for cultivation and of harvest, the enemy of men's souls came and sowed tares, the common dandelion which so closely resembles wheat in its earliest stages. After this propagating period had passed the man and his servants went out one day to find in their field evidence that another had also sown seed. The test of every life is the fruit produced. During these earlier stages the tares had looked so nearly like the wheat as not to be readily distinguished, but now that the harvest time approaches the difference is all too evident. It is significant from this parable that no blame is laid upon the servants that they should have allowed the two to grow up during this first stage. Surprise, anger and disappointment directed at the hearts of the servants when they discovered the mixed character of the approaching harvest. The master, however, clears them of all blame, for, said he, "Our enemy hath done this." Not an enemy, as the King James version has it, but a malicious, but the Son of God is greater than he, see 1 Peter 3:22.

Parables He Taught.
If the servants had sought to uproot the tares they would in all likelihood have done more damage than good, though this does not imply any conflict with Jesus' words as found in Matthew 5:29, 30. The seed had the same environment and in God's good time the separation should take place. So "let both grow together" until both be fully developed. Then he will say to the reapers, gather first the tares and burn them, but gather the wheat into my barn. Notice the tares did not evolve into wheat. Like beggars like. Gather into bundles is the command, if we are together we must expect to suffer together. The wheat was ripe for full salvation, blessing and a further usefulness, while the tares were ripe only for destruction.

After teaching these parables, of which this is but one, Jesus sent the multitude away and more fully and completely taught his disciples the meaning of the parables. The field is the world, and if we ask we shall have the heathen for our inheritance and the uttermost part of the world as a possession (Ps. 2:8). The good seed are the sons of the kingdom, but the tares are the sons (children) of the evil one. Both the sons of the good and the sons of the bad grow from, and develop out of, seed, the sons of the kingdom from the good seed.

We must remember the three lessons we have been studying. The first concerned the nature of the seed and the soil; the second dealt with the mystery of the growth and development of the kingdom, whereas this lesson has to do with the mixed.

World the Field.
As the psalmist puts it (1:5), "The ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, for he has no standing, nor sinners (abide) in the congregation of the righteous." It is not our place to gather the tares into bundles. God will send forth reapers (v. 30) and his reapers are the angels (v. 39). The fact is we are here warned against useless or profitless activity. Ours is to sow the right seed and then stand back and let God work. We are not even responsible for any process of separation, for God will take care of his own and in his own time will send forth his reapers who will do what we would make sorry work of attempting to do. How often we see men zealously attempting the separation process during the propagating and developing period only to uproot the wheat with the dandelion.

Evil, we are clearly shown, will not gradually disappear from the world, but on the contrary it will grow, develop and bear along beside the wheat until "the harvest." After the harvest it will be all too clear which is good and which is bad. The language of Jesus is graphic—"cast and bind" expresses indignation and contempt; "tarnish of fire" denotes the fierceness of the torment of punishment, and the "gnashing of teeth" and the "wailing" is a terrible picture of anguish and despair. As against this, he tells us that the righteous shall shine forth free from all cloud or shadow.

Woman Finally Recovers From Nervous Breakdown

Impoverished nerves destroy many people before their time. Often before a sufferer realizes what the trouble is, he is on the verge of a complete nervous breakdown. It is of the utmost importance to keep your nervous system in good condition, as the nerves are the source of all bodily power. Mrs. Anna Kozak, 211 Mechanic St., Pueblo, Colo., says:

"For many years I suffered from nervous prostration; was unable to do any house work and doctors failed to help me. Remedies I tried from druggists did not do me a particle of good. A neighbor told my husband about and he procured a bottle. After the first few doses I showed a marked improvement and after taking two bottles I was entirely cured. I have been perfectly well for years and cannot praise Dr. Miles' Nervine too highly."
If you are troubled with loss of appetite, poor digestion, weakness, inability to sleep, if you are in a general run-down condition and unable to bear your part of the daily grind of life, you need something to strengthen your nerves. You may not realize what is the matter with you, but that is no reason why you should delay treatment.
has proven its value in nervous disorders for thirty years, and merits a trial, no matter how many other remedies have failed to help you. Sold by all druggists. If first bottle fails to benefit your money is returned. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

Ellis, deceased, Martha McMillan, deceased, Harrison Johnson, deceased, respectively, the respective places of residence of which said heirs at law are unknown, William T. Morgan if living, whose place of residence is unknown, if dead his unknown heirs at law whose places of residence are unknown, are hereby notified that on the 6th day June, 1912, Oscar L. Smith filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Greene County, Ohio, against them and other defendants in which said petition it is alleged that the said Oscar L. Smith is the owner in fee simple of certain real estate situated in the Village of Cedarville, Ohio, and located at the intersection of Main and Church Streets, said premises being bounded on the West by Main Street, on the North by Church Street, on the East by Walnut Street, and on the South by an alley, and that in the intended and attempted conveyance of said premises by certain deeds referred to in the petition, said premises have been erroneously described as lots 66, 67 and 68 of John Orr's Third addition to the Village of Cedarville, Ohio; that by reason of said erroneous description of said premises in said deeds, the defendants claim an interest in said premises adverse to plaintiff's right, title and interest therein. The prayer of said petition is that the claim of the defendants respectively in and to said premises may be adjudged null and void; that plaintiff's title may be quieted against same, and that said deeds may be reformed to comply with the proper description of the premises and the intention of the parties to said deeds. Said defendants are notified that they are required to answer said petition on or before the 17th day of August, 1912, or judgment will be taken against them in accordance with the prayer of the petition. OSCAR L. SMITH, Smith & Smith, Attorneys.

Messrs. Reese Barber and Harry Owens, who travel out of St. Louis for the Washburn-Crosby Flour Company, are here on their vacation.

It had been hoped that the work on the U. P. church would be completed so that services could be held Sabbath but such is not the case. While the decorating has been completed there remains considerable work in cleaning, laying the carpet and placing the seats. The committee has been unable to get the necessary help to complete the work this week. Everything will be ready for Sabbath, August 4.

Rev. A. M. Campbell, formerly pastor of the U. P. church here, was calling on friends for a short time Thursday afternoon. Rev. Campbell recently resigned as president of Franklin College, New Athens, O., and preaches Sabbath for the second time in the Second U. P. church in Xenia, this congregation having no pastor since Rev. McClure's resignation.

Zimmerman

Makes Confession.

Wm. Zimmerman, who is now in the pen for the theft of clover seed from Andrew Bros. has made a confession and backs up the testimony offered by the main witness for the state, Wilson Ballard. The only difference being that Floyd Polly entered the building instead of Zimmerman, as Ballard claimed. The officers still believe that Ballard was correct.

In view of the fact that Attorney Dean secured a second trial at great expense to the county, two convictions, and the confession, makes it look as if Zimmerman should have been permitted to acknowledge his guilt at the start.

KEEPING STEP TO MUSIC.

Why Some Men in a Parade Are Sure to Be Out of Time.

There are many thousands more in our army and thousands more in the militia of the several states, but every one of them has at some time or other, in some parade or other, cursed fluently the leading company (the one right behind the band) for not keeping step with the music of the band. It is a common sight, whether the soldiers be regulars or militia, to see companies with different step when they ought to be by regulation with the same step. Call to mind any parade recently seen and the remark will be verified. It is an easy thing for the most ignorant soldier to learn how to keep step, and as a rule all do know. Especially is this so when applied to the sergeants who are called guides and whose step the whole company has to take up.

Of course the reason is found in the comparative slowness of sound travel. Each company in a parade really has step with the music that it hears, but the farther back it is the later does it hear the music, and consequently the later is the step until beyond a certain distance the step is too soon, having lost a period.

To get the exact distance the following calculation will suffice: In ordinary quick time the soldier steps twice in a second. In one-fourth second, then, a man will have raised his foot to the highest point, thus creating half a step. At this identical instant the sound of the note has just reached a man ninety yards behind and his foot will just be striking the ground. A man ninety yards farther will have the step of the front man, but it will be on the wrong foot, and while the position of the foot will be the same the ac-
